Churngold Remediation Limited is a specialist contractor that provides a range of traditional and innovative solutions for the remediation of contaminated soils and groundwater. Whilst providing an overall environmental benefit through our activities, we recognise that there may also be potentially adverse environmental impacts.

Through our environmental culture, via our environmental management system, we will minimise the adverse environmental impacts and enhance the beneficial environmental operations. Senior Management will provide suitable resources to implement this policy and supporting procedures.

Therefore, Churngold Remediation Limited will: -

- Identify and comply with all environmental legislation and other requirements applicable to our activities;
- Identify training needs and undertake structured training of all employees:
- Understand the environmental issues of each of our spheres of operation and then monitor, review and improve our environmental performance via:

Monitoring and developing the latest best available techniques

Minimise generation of waste and maximise re-use and recycling

- Consider the environmental competence of our subcontractors:
- Communicate this policy to employees, external parties and the general public:
- Annually review the environmental management system to allow continual improvements in environmental performance.
